

The complex global maritime defense environment requires multimedia communications, multifunctional devices and rapid response times. The data to meet

The K2 tactical terminal supports flexible mounting in consoles and bulkhead mounting in maritime platforms ranging from submarines to large decks.

- > High definition and interactive screens support rapid response to mission challenges
- > Simultaneous access to multiple circuits, including radio networks and secure voice, provides situational awareness
- > External headsets, handsets, push-to-talk footswitches and speakers, augmented built-in microphone, speakers and push-to-talk to satisfy diverse operating environments

